

THE COTTESMORE HUNT

Anyone who takes part in this event – including those who run it – is a participant.

RISKS: I accept that this event has risks of injury or death to me and third parties and damage to property.

INSURANCE: I accept that the Cottesmore Hunt, its Masters, officers, employees and others acting on its behalf and the owners and lessors of the land over which the event takes place or the building in which it takes place or both (the organisers) may not insure or cover (indemnify) me against the risks.

I accept my responsibility to ensure that the insurance cover for any vehicle I drive or horse that I and any accompanying minors ride during the event is sufficient to cover a £10M liability to third parties for the risks.

I have noted that the event or parts of it may not be in a public place (which may affect my insurance cover) and also that if I am not the policyholder of a vehicle I drive during the event then the insurance cover for the vehicle may be for risks to third parties only and not for damage to the vehicle.

REQUIREMENTS: I accept that the organisers may require me and any accompanying children (minors) to obey instructions. These may include the wearing of specified safety clothing.

CHILDREN: I assume the risks for me and for any accompanying minors for whom I am responsible.

LIABILITY: I release (hold harmless) the organisers and other participants from liability for any injury, disability, death or loss or damage to people or property whether arising from the negligence of the organisers and other participants or otherwise, except where this is not allowed by law.

REFUNDS: I accept that if I have paid to participate and the event takes place on the day advertised, my payment will not be refunded unless there is a cancellation deadline advertised for the event and I cancel before that deadline.